VIOLATE NEUTRALITYCARAVAN OF AUTOMOBILES
LOADED WITH SUPPLIES FOR FEDERALS CROSS BORDER.

VILLA MAKES SEARCH

Rebel Leader Promises Death if Offenders Are Caught, While General Scott Puts American Troops on Trail.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
El Paso, Tex., Feb. 12.—Troops of the United States at dawn today resulted in a search for the Mexicans who last night headed across the Rio Grande from the American side, carrying arms and supplies in violation of the neutrality laws, to join the federal forces at some point unknown or to harass the rebel garrison at Juarez across the river from El Paso.

So far as the American cavalry officers could learn in the course of the night the plot was to capture a corral of horses and saddles at Ysleta, 13 miles east of here and about a mile from the river bank, and rush them across.

In some way this part of the plan miscarried for the rush to the other side as reported by citizens of Ysleta
was precipitated before many, if any,
of the horses, could be stolen.

The alarm reached General Q. L.
Scott, in command of Fort Bliss,
about 10 o'clock last night. Ranchers and others whose homes are scattered along the road near Ysleta, telephoned into this city to find out the cause of an unusual number of automobiles,
some of which were covered with canvas and apparently carried boxes.

Counts of the number of those varied from 10 to 50, but inquiry at Ysleta
early in the morning indicated that there were more than 100. Mary O'Neil, night telephone operator at Ysleta,
saw six of them seemingly laden with boxes under their canvas covers, turn toward the river. They were without lights and she gave it as her opinion based on knowledge of the roads and to say of the vehicles
generally that the machines disappeared
in some of the numerous corrals in Ysleta and were there unloaded. Five of them she saw later, this was at 8 o'clock in the morning, when with the others they suddenly reappeared and dashed toward El Paso.

See Soldiers Cross.
The only soldier so far known to have seen any of the alleged Huerta troops, a 15th cavalry. The corporal has been stationed at a village east of Ysleta and when the alarm sounded
he was dispatched to Ysleta to guide
other troops being rushed to that point.

He arrived ahead of the reinforcements and lay in a ditch from which he says he saw the detachments of about 15 men each make a rush toward the river. When the other soldiers arrived they had disappeared
and while there was no light, it was still too dark to trail the fugitives.

All night the American searched
among the bushes and stunted cottonwood trees which dot the sandy plains
about Ysleta and now at Juarez between Ysleta and Socorro, a hamlet
3 miles east of Ysleta, but did not catch sight of their quarry. To all appearances the latter had escaped. According to Mrs. O'Neil and the few others who could be routed from their beds last night, strange horsemen had been collecting there since Tuesday.

They straggled in by ones, twos and threes and were non-communicative.
Villa Makes Search.
It had a concerted look, but the Mexicans who comprise the bulk of the population of Ysleta are said to be federal sympathizers and if any of them knew what was going on none
betrayed the fact until today.

Gen. Francisco Villa, commanding rebel forces and now at Juarez, received an intimation of the situation at Ysleta early in the morning and sent out small detachments along the Mexican bank of the river to capture the invaders.

He did capture ten men, but six
of these proved to be harmless peons.
The other four were held for investigation. Villa during the night sent out reinforcements and as they mounted
he said today they could not have had difficulty in overtaking the dismounted troops. A report that horses were waiting for the latter on the Mexican side proved unfounded.
The animals seen on the other bank numbered but few and evidently had strayed from some ranch to drink
from the river.

Death if Captured.
Gen. Villa said he hoped that the recruits got across the river, for if the Americans captured them they would be imprisoned, while Villa could shoot them.

"But I'm glad they didn't get away with the horses," he exclaimed. "Good for the Americans. I am for them."
The automobiles constitute one of the mysteries of the night. Every road into El Paso was watched after
the alarm but no persons were caught,
although there were those who insisted that there were many machines and mist of them carried away. The fact is that no evidence of any of those seen by Mrs. O'Neil.

The troops called out last night
were A and B of the 13th cavalry and C and D of the 15th. A and B were commanded respectively by Captain
H. Davidson and Captain Hamilton
Bowie. Captain Barnhardt of D troop posted detachments at the fords of the river usually used, but the streams is a much more trivial affair in breadth than it appears to be in map and can be crossed in many places.

Captain Davidson as senior captain was in command. In an adobe hut which formed part of the corral at Ysleta he found a large stock of saddles which appeared nearly new.
There were also a number of new bridles and blankets.

Carried Box of Fuses.
To one of the saddles was attached
a box full of fuses. These suggested that the recruits, if such they really were, had in mind the destruction of the railroad south of Juarez in order to delay the movement of additional troops south for the impending attack
on Torreon. Provisional President Huerta is said to be reinforcing that point as fast as possible and every day that the attack is delayed is of value to him.

Captain Davidson could not determine whether the horses and saddles had been secretly collected at the corral or were a part of the work of the federal garrison which was defeated
at Ojinaga and sought asylum on American territory. He inclined to the latter opinion, but in any event was glad to have prevented the run of the horses to the other side of the river.

Various Conjectures.
There is a good deal of comment
that the fugitives were recruits gathered in El Paso by secret agents of the federals. Another conjecture was possible. This was that Gen. Villa himself could well use the horses and saddles going to waste just across the river.

SENATOR GORE SUED
BY OKLAHOMA WOMANPlaintiff Claims Senator Attacked Her
in Appointment Dispute—Gore Denies Charges.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Oklahoma City, Feb. 12.—Mrs. Minnie E. Bond of Oklahoma City, today gave her version of what occurred at a Washington hotel March 24 last,
when it is alleged she was attacked by United States Senator Thomas H. Gore
of Oklahoma. Mrs. Bond is seeking to recover $50,000 and damages from the senator. Mrs. Bond charges she was seized by Senator Gore while discussing with him in a room at the United States hotel the prospects of her husband, Julian Bond, obtaining appointment to a federal position. She declared that she met the senator at her request.
Reaching the time of the alleged assault the witness said she had telephoned Senator Gore to come to her hotel, saying she did not like to wait
in his office where there were so many men. When the senator arrived she went with him to a room
occupied by James Jacobs of Oklahoma. In their talk she said the senator asked many personal questions
and tried to take her to his room.

"I told him I was a different kind of woman from those he had been associating with," testified Mrs. Bond.
She alleged that the senator took hold of her and tried to pull her toward him and that her glasses were broken in the struggle, cutting her in the face. When he pushed her over on the bed, the bed covering was stained with blood in several places.

At this juncture the witness said,
T. E. Roberts of Oklahoma entered the room together with Jacobs and Kirby Fitzpatrick and she went to the toilet to wash the blood stains from her hands and face. She declared the senator followed her and told her to sit down when present there was nothing wrong.

Mrs. Bond was expected to remain on the witness stand throughout the day's session.

Industrial Commission Draws a Code
to Prevent Accidents With Electrical Equipment.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 12.—The next important promulgation of the industrial commission will be a complete code of rules for safety in the installation and maintenance of electrical equipment. The industrial commission has been publishing hearings on the proposed code in the capital at Madison on March 12, at 10 o'clock. All persons who desire to offer suggestions or amendments will be heard at that time. Printed copies of the proposed code are being distributed. The first of the initiative in setting a fixed standard for the benefit of employers, working men and manufacturers of electrical equipment.

The code is in drawing up the proposed code is the prevention of accidents, statistics of industrial fatalities having proved that faulty electrical equipment is responsible for an appalling number of deaths. Records show that a great many of these fatalities are due to poor installations,
while many others are due to lack of careful instruction and warning of workmen, added to the carelessness that ordinarily grows out of familiarity.

ENGLAND HOLDS FAST
TO FIRST DECISIONPremier Asquith Refuses to Reconsider Decision on Exhibit at Panama Exposition.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
London, Feb. 12.—Premier Asquith
today again refused a British official participation in the Panama Pacific exposition at San Francisco. When asked in the house of commons by Waldorf Astor to reconsider the matter, Mr. Asquith said:

"The British government recently reconsidered the question of participation in the exposition at San Francisco, but regrets it does not feel able to modify its previous decision."

CARNegie LIBRARY
IN ENGLAND BURNEDBleak and Building Destroyed by Fire
Set by British Suffragettes—Leave Warning Vote.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Birmingham, Eng., Feb. 12.—The Carnegie library at Northfield, Worcester, six miles south of Birmingham, was today destroyed by fire set by an arson squad of suffragettes. All of the books were burned and only the shell of the building was left standing.
Fingers were found strewn about the place bearing the words: "To start your next library give women the vote."

ATTORNEY GENERAL ISSUES
EDICT ON MARRIAGE LAWS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Madison, Feb. 12.—A county judge
has not the power to waive the provision of the statute fixing the legal ages for marriages under a circumstances. These ages are 18 years for males and 15 for females. This opinion was given by Attorney General
Owen to District Attorney Stanley G.
Dunwiddle of Janesville today.

MINER'S ATTORNEY
CLAIMS PAY SYSTEM
CUTS DOWN WAGESHancock Council Investigation Committee in Stormy Session Over Store-keeping System.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Hancock, Feb. 12.—Although the thermometer outside registered twelve below zero, an electric fan was set buzzing this morning in the council chamber, while the council investigation committee was in session. The fan was heavy in its densely packed room and Chairman Taylor, shivering
in his great coat, started a cold wave
in circulation by turning on the fan.

The ill-felling beneath the veneer
of politeness which opposing counsel have shown toward each other, thus far in the investigation, became apparent today when O. N. Hilton, for the striking mine workers, read into the records a number of pay slips for the avowed purpose of providing "a system at once unfair and oppressive."

It appeared from the slips that the mining companies were accustomed to take out of the employee's pay the amount he owed the storekeeper,
sometimes leaving nothing.

A. F. Rees, for the operators, said that the inference that the companies controlled the stores was untrue. Hilton replied that he had no such purpose, but merely wanted to show the system.

The committee sustained an objection by Rees to the introduction of newspaper clippings of what purported to be the excerpt from the report of investigators for the department of labor who had inquired into conditions here.

Pat. Denning, a miner, employed at Ahmeek mine, testified that the one man drill was dangerous to the man who operated it.

They were worked to death and did not get the money for it," declared Pat. Denning, copper miner, today to the congressional investigators. He was on the stand all the morning. His testimony related not only to mine working conditions but also to alleged work of imported "gun men" after the strikes in the village of Ahmeek of which he was marshal.

"What is it you men want?" chairman Taylor asked.

"Let the companies give us a minimum pay of $3 a day, an eight-hour day and the companies to pay for the work they make more money than they ever made," he replied.

Tramers, who formerly filled ten cars a day, had been driven to fill as many as 52 in later years, he said. As the companies had done here the one man machine was killing all of us."

WISCONSIN TO FRONT
IN TELEPHONE WORLDState Telephone Association in Session at Madison Considers Interesting Facts.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., Feb. 12.—Wisconsin stands at the forefront of the states of the union in telephony. This was emphasized by John A. Pratt of Mewaukee, president of the Wisconsin State Telephone Association, in his address at the annual convention in session here. Throughout the country there is one telephone for every thirteen persons; in Wisconsin
one for every eight, or nearly one for every family.

Telephone Cost Low.
Speaking further on the state situation, President Pratt recounted that there are 578 telephone companies,
and in 1910 the total investment in plants was $13,744,890. The total revenue was $2,707,000, or an average of $3,250,320, or an average of less than $12 per telephone. The total expense for operation and maintaining was $2,458,415, or which 65 percent
was covered by the rates and rates of employees. In the three years from 1910 to 1913, the number of telephones had increased from 246,704 in 1910 to 267,768 in 1913, a gain of nearly 10 percent.

"While the cost of living has rapidly increased, while wages have steadily risen," he said, "the cost of telephone service has gradually decreased. Under a wise policy of state regulation, we find a healthy, hopeful condition of affairs."

President Pratt praised the state's non-duplication policy and the physical connection law, together with the perfection of the system of uniform accounting, which together he predicted will gradually bring about a universal service.

He gave these statistics: Total messages transmitted in the United States in 1911—24,208,000,000, of which 14,400,000,000, or 59.5 per cent were by telephone, 9,700,000,000 or 40.1 per cent were by mail, and 108,000,000
or 0.4 per cent by telegraph.

Valentine Gives Remarks.
C. B. Randall, attorney for the Tri-State Telephone company of St. Paul, discussed "Contracts and Right of Way." Fred Runkle of Portage, Walter Gallon of Sheboygan, W. J. Goodrich of La Crosse, E. J. Eneen of Bangor, Richard Valentine of Janesville and others spoke on the use of the automobile in the telephone business, and C. E. Johnson, secretary of the Northern Chemical Engineering Laboratories, Madison, read a paper on "Proper Care of Batteries and Their Construction." A banquet and theatre party were given last night.
Sessions are at the Park hotel.

MORRIS DISCUSSES ROAD IMPROVEMENT

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Madison, Feb. 12.—In urging the county highway commissions to expend the money for highway improvement so that the state, county and locality will get dollar for dollar, Lieutenant Governor Thomas Morris
addressing the good roads convention said that even St. John in speaking of the coming of the Lord had in view
the good roads movement.

He quoted a paragraph from St.
Luke in which he said, "Low places must be raised, the hills and the mountains levelled and the ways made straight."

Other speakers were Secretary of State John S. Donald and Assistant Secretary L. B. Nagler.

Mr. Morris is here gathering information preparatory to opening his campaign for United States senator.

HELD AS MURDERER
OF MRS. EMMA KRAFTJohn B. Koettters Arrested in San Francisco in Connection With Crime in Chicago Hotel.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
San Francisco, Feb. 12.—John B.
Koettters, wanted in Chicago for the murder in a hotel there of Mrs. Emma Kraft of Cincinnati, who was beaten to death with a hammer, was arrested here last night. A woman, with whom Koettters has been in partnership in the operation of a lodging house, revealed his identity to the police.

The man admitted that he was Koettters, but denied he was concerned in the murder. He will be held for Chicago authorities.

Seek Extradition.
Chicago, Feb. 12.—An immediate effort will be made to return Koettters
to Chicago, and have him placed on trial for the murder of Mrs. Kraft, the police state today. As this is Lincoln's birthday, a legal holiday
in Illinois, no effort probably will be made until tomorrow to get the necessary extradition papers.

Unconscious, and in a dying condition, Mrs. Kraft was found in her hotel room on Nov. 14, 1912 by a cham-bermaid. She died soon after being moved to a country hospital. Captain Halpin said Koettters was unlikely to fight extradition.

Papers Applied For.
Extradition papers for the return of "Handsome Jack" Koettters, will be sent tomorrow by John J.
Halpin, chief detective. Captain Halpin said Koettters was unlikely to
fight extradition.

FREIGHT ON WAGONS
CUT BY COMMISSIONPlace Commodity in Second Class Following Complaint of Jefferson Company.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., Feb. 12.—Freight rates on wagons were cut by the railroad commission about 20 per cent today when the commission changed the classification, putting wagons in the second instead of the first class. The original complaint was made by the Northwestern Wagon Company of Jefferson, but the rates announced today
affect all lines.

The commission also ordered joint rates on pulpwood. The new joint rates will be 15 per cent, or 20 per cent below the sum of the two local rates. On complaint of the clay manufacturers the commission cut rates
on the used or drainage purposes
about 20 per cent.

The complaint of a number of residents of Portage asking for a separation of grade crossings over the St.
Paul road in that city was dismissed
because of a lack of jurisdiction. A letter has been sent the city asking them to make a complaint as an official body so that the commission can take testimony on the subject.

On application of the Omaha railroad commission for such a certificate
of public convenience and necessity for the building of a branch from Kaiser to Park Falls. The extension is about ten miles in length,
and will afford better train connections.

New York on Account of Ill-Health.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Portland, Ore., Feb. 12.—E. H. Sothern issued a statement here today lamenting publication of reports that there had been a breach between him and his wife, Julia Marlowe, who is now in New York. There was not the slightest foundation for such rumors,
he said. Mr. Southern having abandoned their tour and returned to New York solely because of ill-health. In justice to his company and to theatre managers, Mr. Southern explained he was concluding his season alone.

Lincoln

On the anniversary of Lincoln's birthday it is fitting to draw a business text from his wonderful life.

"I am always for the man who works over America."
Life fulfilled words.

He believed in his country
and that there was no limit to its great possibilities.

This same spirit is driving men forward to great achievements over America. It does not dim the spirit of progress.

We of the United States and Canada are a nation of optimists. We believe the rewards come to those workers who earn them.

No literature that is written today is so typical of the country and its spirit as the advertisements which appear from day to day in live newspapers.

They are the voice of the worker calling on the world to come and see what he has done.

The reading of the advertising is in keeping with the spirit of Lincoln's whole life—
the encouragement of the worker.

GROUND IS BROKEN
TODAY FOR FAMOUS
LINCOLN MEMORIALBest Example of Modern Architecture, Soon to be Erected in Potomac Park.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, Feb. 12.—Ground was broken today, the anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln, for the Lincoln Memorial, a $2,000,000 structure, the purpose of whose designers
is to mark the passing of a work
of such magnitude and sentimental importance. So it was decided to let the ceremonies go over until the laying of the corner stone. Former President Taft, chairman of the Lincoln Memorial Commission, did not come to the city to see the work start.

The site for the memorial is in Potomac Park on an "axis," planned century ago, at one end of which is the capitol, the seat of government of the government, and at the other, more than a mile to the west,
the Washington monument.

Further to the west will be the Lincoln memorial, where it will be a relation with the capitol and the Washington monument that would be impossible on any other site, and will be closely related also with Arlington cemetery, where those who fought for the Union are buried. It is planned to have, some day, a memorial bridge linking the Lincoln memorial with Arlington.

The design of the memorial is the work of Henry Bacon, a New York architect, approved by the memorial commission. His idea was that the memorial to Lincoln should be composed of four features—a statue of the man, a memorial to his second inaugural address, and a symbol of the United States which he preserved. Each feature will be related to the others by means of design and position, and each will be arranged that it will become an integral part of the whole in order to attain unity and simplicity in the monument. Each feature is made to impress the beholder with its greatest force and this is sought to accomplish by means of isolation, though not to the extent of impairing the relation of each to the others.

The most important single object will be the statue of Lincoln. The plan being for a seated figure placed well in the background of the large chamber. The sculptor has not yet been selected. This is an object that might detract from the effectiveness of the statue and the visitor will be alone with it.

The smaller halls at each side of the central chamber, each will contain a memorial, one to the Gettisburg address and the other of the inaugural address, in bronze letters on monumental tablets, while adjacent
qualities as evidenced by those
speeches.

While these memorial will be seen from any part of the hall, they are to be partly screened from the central chamber by means of a row of Ionic columns.

Surrounding the walls enclosing
these memorials to the man, is planned a colonnade, forming a symbol of the union, each column representing a state—16 in all—one for each existing state, the time of the Gettis-
burg address and the other of the inaugural address, in bronze letters on
monumental tablets, while adjacent
qualities as evidenced by those
speeches.

The movement for this Lincoln memorial was started in 1902 by the late Senator Cullom of Illinois, Lincoln's friend, who died only a few weeks ago, just too soon to enable him to see the fruition of his purpose. From 1902 until last year the plan was in progress. Final action having been taken under another bill introduced by Senator Cullom in 1910.

Various suggestions as to the form
the memorial should take were submitted and considered at Fort Stevens, a memorial bridge to connect Potomac Park with Arlington cemtery, and a government road to Catsytburg. At times there was considerable feeling displayed in the controversy.

It is notable that the site finally selected by the commission of architects, the memorial commission, and congress itself, is the one first recommended by the park commission under the act of 1902. Many of the objections made at the time to the site have passed with the years. The city had not developed so far in that direction at that time, the site was not so easily accessible and the ground was much lower and more swampy.

The members of the Lincoln memorial commission are: William H.
Taft, chairman; Joseph C. S. Blackburn, recently appointed to fill the vacancy left by Shelby M. Cullom; Joseph C. Cannon, George Peabody Wetmore, Samuel Walker McCall, Champ Clark, and Thomas S. Martin.

CHICAGO OBSERVES
LINCOLN'S MEMORYMany Celebrations Mark Passing of Great Illinois Statesman's Birthdays.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Chicago, Feb. 12.—Chicago today
honored the memory of Abraham Lincoln on the anniversary of his birth.
Plans had been made to make this a day of wide celebration. Scores of patriotic programs have been arranged.
Banks, the stock exchange, the board of trade and all public offices were closed.

Members of the Chicago Historical Society traveled seventy-five miles west to De Kalb county to a point on Kishwaukee creek, where they marked with boulders the place where Lincoln and Jefferson Davis, then soldiers in the Blackhawk war, met in 1832 for the first time. Among those present at this meeting were General Zacharia Taylor, afterwards a president of the United States, and Major Robert Anderson, who defended Fort Sumter in 1861.

Whole State Pays Homage.
Springfield, Ill., Feb. 12.—Illinois today on the 155th anniversary of his birth did homage to the memory of Abraham Lincoln.

From the Wisconsin line to the junction of the Ohio and Mississippi rivers his greatness was extolled and the words of wisdom and eloquence were repeated by children's lips in city and country schools.

Business in many places was suspended and notable gatherings of men and women heard again the story of the life and death of the great Emancipator.

Representative men from all over the state are guests here at the annual Lincoln memorial banquet and in other cities similar tribute was paid to the memory of the civil war president.

Exercises at Washington.
Washington, Feb. 12.—The national capitol today joined in the national celebration of the 105th anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln. A celebration here was marked by the breaking of ground in West Potomac park for the construction of the two million dollar marble memorial to Lincoln.

Because of lack of time to make suitable arrangements only Captain W.
Harris, one of the engineer corps
of the army who will have supervision of the work, contractors, laborers
and a few others were present.

It is the last Lincoln's birthday which will see standing two of the most historic of the land marks connected with the life and death of the great Emancipator. They are Ford's Theatre, where Lincoln was assassinated, and the "Lincoln Toy Shop,"
where Lincoln and his little son, Tad, sought refuge from the cares of the civil war in play with ten children.

The structures are to be torn down and modern office buildings will be erected.

Mrs. E. Lyman, who was thrown out of her buggy several weeks ago by a runaway, is getting along fine.

CIRCULAR LETTERS SENT TO TEACHERS

Superintendent Antisdell Calls Attention to Various Matters of Importance.

Superintendent of Schools O. D. Antisdell is sending out a circular letter to the teachers of the rural schools in which he calls attention to various matters of importance in connection with the work. He touches on the matter of attendance and states that the reports which are now being checked are encouraging. He suggests that the personal work of the teachers will help in further improvement, as interesting school work will make the school attractive to the children. The school laws on the matter of attendance should be explained to the parents and much can be done to arouse school spirit.

Regarding teachers' examinations the letter says: Teachers' examinations on all grades of certificates will be held at my office Friday and Saturday, March 20 and 21. Third grade certificate examinations will also be held at Milton Junction Thursday and Friday, March 26 and 27. Any who expect to graduate from high school this year can take examinations on these days, and all standings of 75 or better will be kept for them until summer. It will be best for them to leave reading and language, arithmetic, geography, school management and manual until after they take that work in a summer school. We expect to have a summer school in Janesville, beginning about the last of June.

In connection with the new school laws, copies of which have been sent out to the teachers, the letter suggests that the teachers read them over and make notes on some of the more important before turning them over to the district clerks. Attention is called to the fact that school buildings may be condemned, "if any unsanitary condition, which includes heating, lighting, ventilation, seating, cleaning, bad floors and the like."

The letter calls attention to the fact that state fair spelling lists have been sent to schools recently, containing rules and contests and says: "I want one or two from your school to take part in a written contest with other schools in your town. Contests are now being planned, and days will be announced later. Contest words will be taken from words in the first line of each page and other lines to be used in case of tie. The best two in each town contest will take part in a county contest. The school winning the county contest will have the Perry Memorial Flag, which the county won last year to keep a year. Help to get at least one-half of the schools in your town to enter the town contest, which entitles your town to have the county contest. A small school won first place last year."

MRS. MORRIS REED DIES IN CHICAGO

Resident of Town of Rock, Passes Away at Augustana Hospital After a Five Weeks' Illness.

Mrs. Morris Reed of the town of Rock, passed away yesterday afternoon at the Augustana hospital in Chicago, following an illness of five weeks' duration.

She was the daughter of the late James Campion of the town of Harmony, in which village she was born. She was about fifty years of age.

Besides a husband, Morris Reed, she leaves four sons, James, Frank, Morris and Edward, and two daughters, Mrs. Charles Meary of the town of Rock, and Margaret, who lives at home.

Also she leaves five brothers: John, Edward, Michael, Lawrence, and James Campion, Jr., and three sisters: Anna and Nellie Campion and Mrs. John McBride, all of Harmony.

The remains arrived in this city at four o'clock this afternoon and were taken to her late home in the town of Rock. Interment will be made at Mt. Olivet cemetery. Funeral announcement will be given later.

John Thorn.

John Thorn, aged 61, passed away this morning at six-thirty at his home, 870 Glen street, following a few days' attack of heart trouble.

He was born in England and came to America when but four years old. He has made Janesville his home for the past forty years, being employed at the Janesville Machine Company for the past thirty-five years. He has occupied the Glen street residence for the past twenty years.

He leaves besides wife, three sons, Edward, William and John, all of this city.

Funeral announcement will be given later.

Here Is a Table That Shows Just Where Rock County's Tax Money Is Expended

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Feb. 12.—A man who lives in Rock county, outside of the cities of Janesville and Beloit, and pays $100 in taxes this year contributes $4.35 for the support of the state government. Of this amount twenty-five cents goes to support the railroad commission, the state commission, the industrial commission and the dairy and food department. He pays three cents more to the support of all other boards and commissions of the state government.

A taxpayer in the city of Janesville who contributes $100 in taxes this year pays $3.34 for the support of the state government of which nineteen cents goes to the support of the four state commissions.

A taxpayer in the city of Beloit, who pays $100 in taxes pays $4.40 for the support of the state government.

These statements are based upon a table prepared by the special request of this Rock county, outside of the cities of Janesville and Beloit, and Thomas S. Adams, a member of the state tax commission and one of the leading economists of the country. The table gives the bare cost facts and takes no account of commission or profit for the state university.

Out of $100 in taxes paid in Rock county this year, $16.29 goes to the support of the county; $61.48 for the support of the locality and its schools; $11.39 for the support of the state for the localities, and $10.84 is retained by the state.

Of the $11.39 returned to the localities, $5.51 goes for the support of the common schools, 55 cents for the high schools and $4.79 for the building of highways within the county. Statistics disclosing these same facts for the cities of Janesville and Beloit will be found in parallel columns in the table.

Of the $10.84, out of the $100 in taxes collected, which is retained by the state, 46 cents goes to pay interest on certificates of indebtedness, $1.31 for the building of the new state capitol, $3.27 for the state university, and $1.45 for the support of the normal schools of the state. Only $4.35 is used for the support of the state government.

Out of $100 in taxes collected in the city of Janesville, $8.71 is collected by the state, and returned to the locality and in Beloit $8.89 is collected by the state to be returned.

The following table shows more explicitly where all the money collected in Rock county, the cities of Beloit and Janesville goes:

COUNTY, LOCAL AND STATE TAXES FOR THIS YEAR SHOWING THE AMOUNT AND SHARE OF SPECIFIED STATE COMMISSIONS IN A TYPICAL TAX BILL OF $100.

tro Case, in Janesville, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Milwaukee has a unique criminal, being a large number of his days in jail. He is a crook by day and Janesville is interested in the case as the detective who lead to his capture and the recovery of the majority of the loot has been in custody since Wednesday but would not give any light on his visit in this city.

Despatches from Chicago state that Lucy Harvey, a waitress on North Dearborn street, still remains in custody of the authorities since she faints after confronting her bandit sweetheart, Herman Zastro, in a Milwaukee hospital where he was recovering from a gun wound inflicted at the time of his arrest while robbing residences in Milwaukee last month.

Detective Levy, employed by the North Dearborn station and head of the force working on the Zastro case, was in Janesville Tuesday and Wednesday and last night, and gave an ac-

For simplicity, it has been assumed that the state levies for schools, highways and the like are returned in identical amounts to each county, city and town from which they are collected. This is not exactly true in every particular case, but practically so. Some counties and cities collect more and some less than the precise amount.

TELLS OF CAPTURE OF HERMAN ZASTRO

Milwaukee Detective Working On Zastro Case, in Janesville, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Milwaukee has a unique criminal, being a large dance teacher by day and a most successful crook by night and Janesville is interested in the case as the detective who lead to his capture and the recovery of the majority of the loot, was in the city Tuesday.

Despatches from Chicago state that Lucy Harvey, a waitress on North Dearborn street, still refuses to give information to the authorities since she failed after contacting her fiancé, Ernestheart, Herman Zastro, in a Milwaukee hospital where he was recovering from gun wounds, which he received at the time of his arrest while robbing residences in Milwaukee last month.

Detective Levy, employed by the Northwestern railroad and head of the force working on the Zastro case, was in Janesville Tuesday and Wednesday and last night, and gave account of the recovery of the stolen jewels and valuable goods. It appears that when Zastro was brought to the hospital it was not expected he would live and since his escape from Green Bay had been saving the loot from his criminal work. When brought to the hospital he was unconscious and during his unconscious mutterings mentioned the name of "Kitty" and other tips that lead the police to investigate in Chicago where it was found that Lucy Harvey had been given valuable jewels and furs by Zastro, who claimed he was a wealthy merchant and the waitress believed him. When Detective Levy told Miss Harvey where the jewels had come from she gave the authorities the rings, fur coat and seven thousand dollars' worth of jewelry. According to the detective the Chicago waitress had believed in Zastro and that he had aided him in recovering the balance of the loot.

By skillful detective work the sleuths gained trace of two sisters and a brother-in-law of Zastro in Milwaukee and the secret service men laid a trap to capture them. In Chicago they obtained a letter from a housekeeper, ordering that trunks belonging to a man named Hill, alias for Zastro, be shipped to one Jack Hill at Milwaukee. There were three addresses in the letter. The detective solved this by sending a registered letter and calling at the three addresses when it was known the supposed Jack Hill was not at home. When the man who gave the address of Hill came to the letter he was arrested on a federal charge, with his wife and sister-in-law and three trunks unopened. The case had attracted considerable attention in Milwaukee and Chicago because over ten thousand dollars worth of jewels recovered.

CLINTON FIREMEN HOLD GRAND BALL

Large Banquet and Dance Was a Huge Success Socially and Financially.

Clinton, Feb. 12.—The long looked for and much heralded annual firemen's grand ball is again only a memory and a decidedly pleasant memory, too. It was the biggest success possible. The crowd was immense and a jolly good natured one.

The program preceding the dance was good, especially the story telling stunt of James Tighe of Chicago, former Clinton farmer boy. The firemen realized from $230 to $250, which will net them a nice surplus. The supper served by the Hotel Sylvan and Clinton is worthy of note as at each place the repast was most bountiful and faultlessly served.

Mr. and Mrs. George M. Reeder of Watoma, who were here calling on old friends and neighbors a few days, returned home yesterday.

Mrs. A. J. Wilkins went to Beloit Saturday to visit her daughter and family a few days.

Fred Rogers, Delavan, a former Clinton boy, died Sunday morning at 8 o'clock. Funeral was held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, burial at Delavan.

Freddie Welsh, the little English scrapper, is the highbrow of the fight game. Prize fighters as a rule are not thought to spend their leisure moments poring over the profound volumes of our gravest thinkers.

Freddie Welsh, however, admits having such a taste and declares that he is passionately fond of turning the leaves of Meierlinck Shaw and Bush. And, yes, Ernest Hubbard. Not to mention Tolstol, Freddie explains that his fondness for reading came in him naturally. He had had a good boarding school education in England and even while engaged in learning the fight game he never neglected his books. He professes a great friendship for the Sage of East Aurora. He has often trained with him and instead of doing road work he chopped wood and the like and made himself generally useful around the Fra homestead. "I feel, too, that I owe a great deal of my 'come-back' to the influence of Elbert Hubbard," says Welsh. "After I had lost the title to Matt Wells I was sick and tired of all that work of training, but I spent a while with Hubbard and his genial and inspiring companionship did me a world of good."

Ad Wolgast is giving up hope of ever regaining the lightweight belt. Wolgast still considers himself the best 133-pound fighter in the world. But he is convinced that Willie Ritchie will never give him a chance to regain his title. Out on the coast the fight fans are anxious to see a Wolgast-Ritchie bout. The little Madras fighter is quite a favorite out there and would have plenty of supporters should he enter the ring with Ritchie. Ritchie has come into a little unpopularity owing to his having twice escaped fights with Tommy Murphy. Also it is thought that if Wolgast should regain his title he would fight as often as the fans want, which has not been the case with Ritchie.

The question of Willie Ritchie's real weight seems to be quite a mystery. There is a popular belief that he is way above the 133-pound limit and would never in the world be able to make it. One boxing expert who is said to be in a position to know declares that Ritchie is not a pound under 148 at present and would never be able to get more than ten pounds below that. It is pointed out that if he agrees to fight Tommy Murphy he will probably insist upon weighing in at 133 pounds at 3 o'clock, which would mean something like 145 when he enters the ring. This is thought to be pretty heavy weight for a champ of the class. Packey McFarland got away with that sort of stuff for a long while, but he never took part in any championship bouts.

The Feds at least scored a hit on the coast. They signed an official Garnett Bush, for which Coast league fans are said to be devoutly thankful. Bush, it is declared on the coast, is unquestionably the rottenest umpire in the world.

FREEPORT HAVE WON THREE DEBATE CUPS

Illinois High School Boast of Capturing Three Championships in As Many Seasons.

It is evident that the Freeport high school will send a strong trio of negative speakers to this city tomorrow afternoon to argue the literacy test in the immigration bill against the local affirmative team, if their record of previous years may be taken as any criterion of their successful work on former platforms.

Since the Beloit College league was organized in 1908, the Freeport teams have been fortunate enough to capture three league championships in as many years. These three cups, which were the prizes for first place teams, came in the years 1909, 1910 and 1912. In 1911 the Illinois school won second place, a record which might have been a four year title record.

Since the year 1905 the Freeport high school have acquired a record in public speaking, oratory, extemporaneous debate which is unsurpassed in the northern Illinois high schools of many years past. Last year their teams were not members of the Beloit College league, and consequently their accomplishments in 1913 in the forensics were in the hands of the local team.

The team which they will send to this city for argumentation on Friday afternoon is composed of the following men: C. Daniels, P. Zartman and B. Langston. This trio will oppose the local affirmative men, composed of Carl Schmitt, first speaker, George Spohn, second speaker, and Leader Karl Frick, third speaker.

It is believed that Janesville will have a good hard tussle with the Freeport orators, and if they can dispose of the Illinois trio, chances for climbing the championship steps for another year will be exceedingly bright. The local teams are anxious to repeat what was done last season on the debating platform, that of gaining a clear claim to the title of the league.

PACKEY MCFARLAND IN NEW YORK FIGHT

Chicago Boy Tries Luck in East Against Gibbons—Three Other Bouts Staged.

New York, Feb. 12.—What is expected to be one of the best local fights of the winter will occur at Madison Square Garden tonight when Packey McFarland and Mike Gibbons meet in a ten-round bout. The men were to meet at a great attraction and weigh in at 140 pounds. They will receive fifty per cent of the box receipts. From Manager Billy Gibson of the Garden A. C. came word today that every seat in the huge structure had been sold two days ago. Standing room is expected to be at a premium. Even a larger crowd than saw the Cross-Ritchie fight will witness tonight's big battle. Both men are clever and possessed of a man-sized wallon. Betting today was even.

Petroskey tonight will attempt to prove that his recent attack of appendicitis has not impaired his ring qualities. He meets Jimmy Clabby in a 20-round bout at McCarey's Arena at Los Angeles.

Windsor, Canada, Feb. 12.—Johnny Lore appeared to be in fine shape today for his bout here tonight with Pat Drouillard. Lore was favored in today's betting.

STUDENTS PREPARE FOR EVENTS TO BE STAGED TOMORROW

Orchestra Will be on Hand at Debate and Basketball Contests.

Lunch Hour May be Short. The student body of the high school are preparing for the biggest day in the history of the local institution tomorrow when at four o'clock the Freeport negative debating trio meet the local affirmative team in the assembly room, only to be followed at eight o'clock by the basketball conflict between the Madison and local forces.

Mass meetings have formed the line of procedure for several days and this afternoon will hold the most enthusiastic conference, composed of students and faculty members that has been held for many years.

Snake dances and all forms of games, to aid in supporting the team in their upward climb, are arranged for. Two cheer-leaders, dressed in white trousers, white shoes, white caps, blue and white jerseys with large megaphones will display their bleacher fronts and time the students in their rooting. Leonard Tuckwood and Allen Dearborn have been instructed to perform in this manner.

The high school orchestra will furnish popular airs at both events. Parodies from popular airs for the debate have been mastered, as well as half-a dozen airs with special words same later.

It is possible that the debate will be over by six o'clock, providing it starts promptly at four o'clock. In this case the students will have a good long hour for supper. If the debate, however, continues, until six-thirty or later, many of the rooters are planning to remain at the school, to get a good seat for the game. The seating capacity of the assembly room, where the debate is to be held, is about 450, while it is possible to seat several hundred more in chairs through the aisles.

The game is attracting the most attention among the students. A victory over Madison at basketball means more tomorrow than a debate won over Freeport, is the student opinion. They figure that in the debate Saturday at Madison the local negative trio should win, and tie honors, even if the affirmative speakers lost tomorrow. It is expected that fully a thousand people will attend the evening event.

STAR BOWLING CONTEST SETTLES PRIVATE TITLE

Bowling in rare form, to settle a bowling title, the Miller's Two Stars were defeated by Hayne's Winners last night by 203 pins. The contest, easily rolled in excellent form, nearly equaled the scores made by the two teams of the Gazette in their private tilt three weeks ago. Riley was high man of the contest, rolling 147, which brought showers of congratulations from his friends. The total pins for Miller's Two Stars in the three games was 335, and the Winners rolled a total of 529.

FRANCE CONSIDERS SPORT DEPARTMENT

Question Raised on Establishing Bureau of Sports for National Gathering of Athletics.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
New York, Feb. 12.—France is beginning to look upon sports as a real asset to the nation which should be placed on the highest possible plain. The question of creating a Minister of Sports is being discussed. This would mean the establishment of a government department devoted to sports. Many prominent men favor the idea, and those only like warm on the proposition are at least in favor of the nomination of an Under Secretary of Sports. In case the department idea falls through this may be done. France has already provided for a University of Sports with a backing of nearly $100,000.

Returning from Europe recently A. G. Spalding declared that the next country that would have a baseball league such as are now supported in this country would be France. He saw an increasing interest in sports in that country, predicted that the American athletes might not have a long way to go in the next Olympic games. There is no doubt that Europe is beginning to take more interest in sports. Kraetzlein, the great Pennsylvanian hurdler, is shaping the Germans for the Olympic games and England is reluctant to admit if American methods are going to be seen cropping out in that country.

RUBE WADDELL REFUSES TO SIGN NEW CONTRACT

Superior, Feb. 12.—Rube Waddell, the great left hander, who in his day was one of the best mound men, that ever worked in the major leagues, will never pitch another game.

His mission comes from the great Rube himself, who has returned his unsigned contract to Kid Taylor of Superior, who is manager of the Virginia club in the Northern league. Waddell came to Virginia last year from Minneapolis, and was reserved for this season.

OREGON HIGH SCHOOL PUPILS FATTEN PIG FOR SCHOOL EQUIPMENT

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Dallas, Oregon, Feb. 12.—The pupils of the Airline high school are today fattening a pig for the market to obtain funds with which to purchase books for the school library and equipment for the gymnasium. The pig, donated by a patron of the school, is kept at the school house, and the children daily bring such foods as will soon make it ready for conversion into chops and spareribs.

FEDERAL LEAGUE WILL NOT MAKE ATTEMPT TO SECURE EVERS

New York, Feb. 12.—A new angle developed in the baseball situation here today when the federal league promoters announced that they would not bid for the services of Johnnie Evers, deposed manager of the Chicago national league club. Charles H. Weesman, the leading backer of the federal league, stated that his organization considered Evers under contract with the national league and conforming with the new league's unspoken policy would make no effort to obtain Evers.

AMUSEMENTS

TALKING PICTURES MAKING HISTORY

Edison's latest invention has a greater mission to perform than that of mere entertainment. It is in fact the greatest medium for the accurate preservation of the history of the great men of this age that has ever been invented. Instead of a still, lifeless portrait of a man, the Kinetophone preserves his voice and his characteristic actions or gestures—that is, it puts life into still figures and creates a new and greater interest than the best portrait that was ever painted.

A record and film of the late Mayor Gaynor has already been officially deposited in the archives of the Modern Historical Society, which will perpetuate his memory. A hundred or two hundred years from now, when the history of our time has been written from a proper perspective, the records and films of the prominent citizens of today will be opened and the true test of greatness will be applied—will they be considered great after they have gone a century or two?

Then a mere rich man of today, whose present influence or power is due simply to wealth, will be regarded as of little account and only those who have contributed in thought and deed to human progress will be deemed worthy of a place in history.

Edison's irrepressible humor broke forth when he was signing the official document which accompanied the Gaynor records preserved by the Historical Society. As he completed his signature he smiled quizzically and remarked: "When this parchment is opened and read a hundred years from now we may all be feeling uncomfortably warm." The record film of the late Mayor Gaynor is included in the program of Edison's new talking pictures at the Myers Theater, Thursday, matinee and night and Friday, February 12 and 13.

WEATHER FORECAST.

For Janesville and vicinity: Unsettled weather with snow and rising temperature are to be expected tonight and Friday. Northerly winds will prevail.

McGOVERN'S DEFENSE.

Governor McGovern in his address before the Twilight club stated that out of every $100 paid by the taxpayers in Wisconsin, only five cents went to defray the expenses of the railroad commission. When Attorney Charles Pierce pointed out that this would mean a revenue of only $20,000 from the $400,000 collected in taxes throughout the state, while according to the published statement the expenditures of the commission amount to over $150,000 a year, the governor was pretty nearly up against it for an explanation.

And what was his explanation? Why, simple enough, but was it satisfactory? He said that in addition to the money which the state receives from the taxpayers directly, the state had a revenue from the taxation of railroads, from the inheritance taxes, from certain licenses, and other sources. And so the railroad commission draws from these various sources for the other $130,000, while the public gets off lightly with a $20,000 assessment. Isn't that nice? Could anything be sicker?

But let us suppose that the railroad commission depended entirely for its support on the taxpayers—that is, that the money which it costs to carry on its functions was taken from the direct taxes raised on land and incomes, wouldn't the taxpayer actually contribute 37½ cents out of his $100 for this very economical railroad commission?

This leads us to another problem which no doubt the governor could have explained very easily had the time permitted, and that is, just what is the income that the state gets from the railroads? From inheritance taxes, from insurance companies, from the various licenses? If the taxpayers contribute but 13½ per cent directly to the support of the railroad commission and the remaining 86½ per cent is derived from these other sources, is not the same true of the tax commission, the industrial commission and the dairy and food commission? The facts and figures would seem to indicate as much.

According to a report sent out from Madison recently the total cost of the four principal commissions of the state is as follows: Railroad, $174,948.48; tax, $174,283.67; industrial, $34,603.26; dairy and food, $61,230.80; total for the four, $565,066.21. The same report calls attention to the fact the receipts of the insurance department, one of the state's big sources of revenue, was $951,866.88, while the expenses of the department were some $36,000, indicating that these receipts would cover the cost of the four commissions and still leave a balance of $400,000.

The governor's argument is similar to that advanced not so many years ago by La Follette with reference to the cost of the game warden. It will be remembered that the then governor explained that the hunting license money more than paid for the army of wardens that patrolled the state, but if there had been less of these officials, at least half of whom were unnecessary, the amount saved could have been used to advantage in other directions, instead of being turned to useless channels.

Now it isn't so much what these four commissions spend, or what each taxpayer contributes toward the expenditure, but the public likes to know the truth—not a part of the truth, but the whole truth—and it should not be necessary to pry out these facts with a jimmy. They should be published without reserve if there is nothing to conceal.

Wisconsin's experiment in commissions has been successful, without doubt, in many ways. The railroad commission has done a great work and has an undoubted sphere of usefulness. The industrial commission has certainly blazed a new trail for employers and working men, and the pure food commission has done its share in a creditable manner. As for the tax commission, there is nothing to say; at least its results are not so apparent, and we will put it to be fair. But with the success let us reckon the cost; give us the figures squarely and above board; there is no dodging the fact that commissions are expensive and we want to know how the expense is paid and who pays it. It is no more than right that the public should know.

THE FAIR PROPOSITION.

Today marks the opening of the campaign to raise funds for the establishment of a Janesville fair by the directors of the Park association. Fifteen thousand dollars is needed and it is to be hoped this sum will be raised without considerable trouble that such a fair may become an annual institution. It is an important question and one which behooves all to pay particular attention to. Such a fair would in no way interfere with the annual Rock county fair at Evansville, but would be of benefit to it. That fair is established and the proposed meeting for holding a state fair here. If a state fair was possible then why not a district fair now? It is not too early to take radical action in the matter. The directors of the Park Association have expressed their willingness to handle such an undertaking, if given proper financial support and it is up to the men with money now to step forward and guarantee the amount necessary. The past three race meets held here in August of each year have proven successful because the men behind them have stood for the best there is in the racing game. If these same men back a fair it will be a guaranty that will mean more than money can buy to the general public.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

Today marks the hundred and fifth anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln, one of the greatest men in the history of our nation. Fifty-three years ago today he was about to assume the office of president to which he had been elected. It was strenuous days in the history of our country. Already had all the cotton states seceded from the union. The confederacy had been formed and Jefferson Davis was about to be inaugurated its president. Lincoln's life was in danger, his assassination even threatened.

Truly, as he said, the task before him was "greater than that which rested upon Washington." That task was to prevent the Union from breaking up into petty governments, to bring back the seceding states by force of arms and to reunite a divided country, half-slave and half-free.

How he accomplished that task we all know. April 9, 1865, Lee surrendered at Appomattox and the armed resistance of the confederacy was at an end. Six days later Lincoln's great task was ended by the assassin's bullet.

Today is the one hundred and fifth anniversary of the birth of this Savior of His Country. Year by year it is marked by increased observance as year by year Lincoln's true worth is better appreciated by his countrymen and by all peoples. Stanton, who revered and admired him, who entered the cabinet intending to run the government himself, who came to love and admire him, spoke the proved judgment of humanity when he said beside Abraham Lincoln's deathbed:

"Now he belongs to the ages."

URGES BADGES FOR DIVORCED PERSONS

Denver Attorney Advances Plan to Wear Badges When Cupid Fails to Hit the Mark.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Denver, Feb. 12.—Divorced persons ought to wear a badge showing their separation from the state of matrimony. This ought to be displayed just as a crepe is displayed by grief-stricken persons who have lost a relative by death.

Warwick Downing, attorney, is opposed to suppressing divorce cases and he made this suggestion today in discussing the matter. Divorces not only should not be suppressed, he thinks, but they ought to be advertised as widely as possible.

"Of course," said he, "I suppress divorce cases when my clients ask me to do so, but I am opposed to it. When a couple is courting they are not ashamed that anybody should know it. They show it everywhere. Then when they are engaged the announcement is made in just as big letters as the newspaper will permit. When the marriage ceremony is performed, if they don't get their pictures in the papers and the names of those present, they are disappointed. Now, isn't the divorce just as important? If a woman doesn't care enough about a man to live with him, or vice versa, don't you think they should be willing that the world know it. They were tickled to death to let the world know that they were engaged and the married. Why not tell the world about the divorce?"

FAULTY DIGESTION

Quickly Shatters the Nervous System—Immediate Action Necessary—Use Mi-na

When you feel irritable, tired and despondent; when you have nervous twitches, specks before the eyes, headaches, sour stomach, heartburn, bad taste in the mouth, and pains in the colon and bowels—you are suffering from indigestion the first step to chronic dyspepsia, which invariably wrecks the nervous system—you need Mi-na at once.

Mi-na is a specific for stomach weakness—it goes to the seat of your trouble and quickly ends stomach misery. It surely and safely builds up and strengthens the stomach walls and glands, quickly improves the digestive system—the vital force and nerve energy are restored, then you are in the best of spirits and enjoy perfect health.

Do not suffer another day. Get a fifty cent box of Mi-na Tablets from Smith Drug Co., or your nearest drug store—keep them with you constantly, for this treatment will help you get well, fast and strong, and immediate relief is sure. Do not delay—delays are not only dangerous but needless. If not benefited Mi-na costs nothing.

RAILROAD TAKES APPEAL IN MILK STATION CASE

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, Wis., Feb. 12.—The St. Paul railroad today served notice on Attorney General Walter C. Owen of an appeal from the decision of the circuit court in the Omdoll milk station case. The railroad commission ordered the road to build a milk station platform at Omdoll's crossing, near Waukesha. The railroad appealed the case to the circuit court and now it is appealed to the supreme court.

In an opinion to District Attorney J. Henry Bennett of Viroqua today, Attorney General Owen held that a district attorney can prohibit the selling or giving away of liquor to habitual drunkards in the county in which he resides or any other county of the state in an opinion to State Dairy and Food Commissioner J. Q. Emery he held that the wrappings of cheese and butter are closed containers and must have stamped on them the weight of the package.

EXPORT TRADE HURT BY NEW TARIFF LAW

Foreign Business of Country Receiving Severe Setback While Imports Show Gain.

(By Winfield Jones.)

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—Under the Wilson administration and the operation of the new democratic tariff law the foreign business of the United States is receiving a severe setback. Imports into this country are increasing while exports from out merchants are constantly shrinking. Official government figures show this plainly.

The boasted Simmons-Underwood tariff law, that the democrats declared would cause a great boom in the foreign trade of the country, is turning out badly for our exporters. A declining export business, which is rapidly putting the balance of trade against this country, reacts unfavorably on every industry, every business, every farm, and every laborer in the United States.

Imports show increase. While imports from five South American countries during December, 1913, were considerably more than the imports from the same countries for December, 1912, exports from the United States to these countries decreased in a majority of cases, according to the department of commerce.

Imports from Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Peru and Uruguay for December, 1913, were all in excess of imports for the same month of the preceding year, in some cases almost double. Exports from the United States to Argentina during last December fell off compared with the exports for December, 1912, as did also the exports to Brazil and Uruguay.

Imports from Argentina during December, 1913, totaled $4,659,244, from Brazil, $1,478,932, from Chile, $486,934, from Peru, $1,164,345, and from Uruguay, $175,495. For December, 1912, the figures were: Argentina, $3,443,743; Brazil, $1,194,548; Chile, $1,585,359; Peru, $689,296; and Uruguay, $106,966.

The exports from the United States to Argentina for December, 1913, aggregated $4,737,856; to Brazil, $2,128,697; to Chile, $1,517,901; to Peru, $694,418, and to Uruguay, $518,886. The exports for December, 1912, were: Argentina, $4,882,995; Brazil, $3,201,368; Chile, $1,642,597; Peru, $642,401, and Uruguay, $546,856.

Aids Foreign Business. The democratic tariff law is helping the foreign competitor of the United States business man.

German business men are declaring that the export trade to the United States has been noticeably affected by the new American tariff.

Statistics from the American consuls general at Berlin show an increase of more than $1,500,000 during the last two months since the democratic tariff act came into force. The increase in these two months being almost 10 per cent of the total business passing through the consulate in the preceding year.

Eggs are a feature of the increase. These figure for the first time in the reports of the Berlin consulate, but the item is already considerable, more than $75,000 worth having been shipped during November and the first twelve days of December, or at the rate of more than $2,000,000 worth a year. Let the American farmer and commission merchant reflect on this fact.

At the consulate it is thought that the effect of the democratic tariff is only beginning to be felt. Inquiries are being received daily from buyers in the United States, just awakening to possibility under the new law.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, Wis., Feb. 12.—What is said to be the first will broken in Dane county in twenty-five years was successfully contested this week, when Judge A. G. Zimmerman of the county court disallowed the will of the late Frederick Alsmeyer of Cottage Grove. The suit was brought by a son on the ground that it was not executed according to law, having been drawn within five hours of her death, and that it was then attempted to be admitted as a non-cupative will. It was disallowed on these grounds. It is held that a non-cupative will can not revoke a prior written will. The will involved about $7,000. Votta Wrbets was attorney for the contestant.

The increase in these two months being almost 10 per cent of the total business passing through the consulate in the preceding year.

Eggs are a feature of the increase. These figure for the first time in the reports of the Berlin consulate, but the item is already considerable, more than $75,000 worth having been shipped during November and the first twelve days of December, or at the rate of more than $2,000,000 worth a year. Let the American farmer and commission merchant reflect on this fact.

At the consulate it is thought that the effect of the democratic tariff is only beginning to be felt. Inquiries

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, Wis., Feb. 12.—What is said to be the first will broken in Dane county in twenty-five years was successfully contested this week, when Judge A. G. Zimmerman of the county court disallowed the will of the late Frederick Alsmeyer of Cottage Grove. The suit was brought by a son on the ground that it was not executed according to law, having been drawn within five hours of her death, and that it was then attempted to be admitted as a non-cupative will. It was disallowed on these grounds. It is held that a non-cupative will can not revoke a prior written will. The will involved about $7,000. Votta Wrbets was attorney for the contestant.

Raine previously had pleaded guilty when arrested on a bench warrant charging embezzlement.

JANESVILLE FAIR APPEARS ASSURED

COMMITTEE RAISES THIRD OF AMOUNT NEEDED IN FEW HOURS.

DATES DECIDED LATER

Will Be Held in Connection With the Annual Race Meet of Park Association.

If present indications are any criterion, the fair held in connection with the annual race meet of the Park Association will be a success. The committee, which has been organized to bring about the fair, has already secured the services of the Park Association and the Madison Race Association to provide the races and other attractions. The committee also has secured the services of the Madison Race Association to provide the races and other attractions.

The question of holding a fair in Janesville has been discussed for many years but it was not until the directors of the Janesville Park Association at their last annual meeting seriously discussed the subject, were any actual steps taken. At this meeting it was decided to place the proposition of holding a fair before the citizens and providing the sum of fifteen thousand dollars was raised for the expenses necessary to conducting such a fair.

Owing to the approach of the holiday season, the matter was dropped for the time being, but this morning a committee, consisting of the entire number of the directors of the Park Association, met to discuss the subject. The result of the regular meeting of the directors last evening, which decided to hold the project at once and find the sentiment of the public, this meeting adjourned at ten minutes to ten, and before eleven sixteen hundred dollars had been subscribed.

At the time of the first sale of the stock of the Park Association but $12,000 was subscribed. The remainder of this is now being disposed of and of several new names, which are much needed, an extension of the grand stand, absolutely necessary if a fair is to be held, and other buildings on the grounds for various exhibits.

The fair will be held sometime in August, the date to be settled later, and will include in its list of exhibits the opening of the Wisconsin Grand Circuit races as in the past. This assures one of the best fields of horses in the middle west for the racing, a most important feature of any fair.

The committee will continue its work until Saturday night and by that time it is expected the full amount needed will have been subscribed. At present Secretary Putnam of the Park Association has been delegating applications for stable room for the coming training season and this means additional stalls must be erected at once to accommodate the many applicants.

CONCERT AND BALL PROVES A SUCCESS

Knights of Columbus Give a Very Pretty Party at Apollo Hall Last Evening.

At Apollo hall last evening there was held by the Knights of Columbus one of the prettiest parties of the season. The affair was held for the members, their families, and most intimate friends. At about eight-thirty Alexis Baas of Madison began his concert with Charles Marshall's "Dear You" and "My Love." Mr. Baas possessed a deep rich baritone of tenor coloring in the upper registers. His wide ranges gives a delightful combination of mellowness and strength, and his selections were most delightful.

Both in his singing and in his songs did Mr. Baas lend a dramatic expressiveness that was so tempered as to hold the audience in rapt anticipation. His program was so keenly realized the passage of time, and endore after endore drew his program on to well high ten o'clock.

Then to the music of Hatch's full orchestra the dancers enjoyed a three hours' program of delightful numbers. That the affair was such a success was due to the committee in charge and a most delightful evening was enjoyed by members and guests.

About eleven o'clock a buffet luncheon was served by the Misses Ryan, consisting of chicken salad, sandwiches, olives, ice cream wafers and coffee. During the evening there was due to an old folks' quadrille but due to the fact that the majority of the attendance was of the younger set, only one such dance was given. Several circle two steps added to the pleasure of the occasion and many remained until the last strains of the Home Sweet Home were played at two o'clock.

For the success of the affair much praise is due John Murphy, George Senett, Edmund Leary, Edward Madden, Fred Schmitt and Frank Hayes, who worked hard to make the affair successful.

MAYOR HARRISON IMPROVED AFTER BRONCHIAL ATTACK

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Chicago, Feb. 12.—Mayor Harrison, who was seized with a chill last evening as he was about to leave for a month's trip to Florida and Cuba, in an effort to recover from an attack of bronchitis, was reported improved this morning.

The Mayor's condition is not alarming, according to his physicians, although it may be several days before he is able to leave for the south.

COMMITTEE TO PROBE VICE IN JANESVILLE

INVESTIGATIONS HERE AND IN BELOIT WILL BE CONDUCTED DURING MARCH.

APPALLING CONDITIONS

Senator Teasdale in Statement Today Declares Amount of Prostitution in Wisconsin is Surprising.

Senator Teasdale's state vice commission will hold an investigation in Janesville some time during the month of March, according to a dispatch received by the Gazette from Madison today. Beloit will not be skipped either, as the committee has the Line City on its calendar. Oshkosh, and possibly Madison will also be visited. The purpose of these cities a large amount of information on local conditions has already been collected.

Owing to the fact that Assemblyman Minkley will be busy until the middle of March, regular sessions of the committee will not be resumed until that time. Meanwhile Senator Teasdale and his corps of "fly cops" will not only visit some of the larger cities of the state but many of the small towns and villages.

Surprised at Conditions. "I am surprised at the amount of vice and prostitution in Wisconsin. I never dreamed there could be so much of it," Senator Teasdale said in an interview at Madison today. "I am surprised at the amount of vice and prostitution in Wisconsin. I never dreamed there could be so much of it," Senator Teasdale said in an interview at Madison today.

This statement was made by Senator Teasdale, chairman of the white slavery committee, in an interview at Madison today. Senator Teasdale said that the investigation thus far conducted had convinced him that the unpurged term of C. L. Field, present county judge.

At present three men are announced candidates for this judgeship: Justice of Peace Charles H. Lange, Edwin W. Cullen, and Harry L. Maxfield, who was appointed by Governor McGovern to fill the vacancy on Judge Field's resignation.

Wine Room Breeds Vice. "Our investigations show that the greatest cause for girls' downfall is the wine room and the palm garden," said Senator Teasdale. "The evidence presented to the committee is overwhelming on this subject. Some witnesses, judges and district attorneys included, have testified before our committee that from 80 to 85 per cent of the girls who go wrong get started in the wine room."

"I think the law passed at the last session of the legislature requiring physicians to report social diseases should be enforced as well as I can discover the state board of health has never sent out blanks on this subject. We want this information. I have found that physicians generally know nothing about the law."

Fears Eugenics Law. "Testimony before this committee indicates that 75 per cent of operations to women for certain troubles are due to social diseases, many of them through marriages. I think the eugenics law on the whole is a good thing. It will be interesting to watch how it works out. I am appalled at the number of marriages and may have a tendency to increase prostitution."

"We want to make an investigation from the record of illegitimate births, etc., to determine the relation of immorality in country districts in proportion to population as compared with cities," declared Senator Teasdale. "We have some reports from country districts that indicate that even rural communities are not as clean as they should be."

"Will the committee have a sufficient fund to complete the investigation?" was asked.

"We don't know for sure. We have letters from people in La Crosse saying that they will donate plenty of money to continue the investigation. They tell us we are getting at the heart of the problem and the public have little insight as yet to the mass of information that has been collected from the various cities and towns of the state by independent investigations."

"This afternoon I intend to make a preliminary survey in Madison. Our records show that this city has many of the worst saloons in the state closed on Sundays. One of the crying needs is some method by which these laws can be enforced. Mayors come before us and tell us that they are helpless. We want to see that the agency to step in and take the burden. It seems impossible to clean up some of these cities without the aid of the state. The recall will not accomplish it. The salary awarded to the official will not do it. More is needed. We want laws with stronger penalties. We want state assistance in the rigid enforcement of these laws and we want the public to know that we want them to see the inside of the cup as well as the outside."

Public Wants Light. "We don't know for sure. We have letters from people in La Crosse saying that they will donate plenty of money to continue the investigation. They tell us we are getting at the heart of the problem and the public have little insight as yet to the mass of information that has been collected from the various cities and towns of the state by independent investigations."

CANDIDATES ARE OUT FOR CITY ELECTION

No Primary Election for Municipal Judgeship—Candidates Named by Nomination Petitions.

The spring primary election which will be held in this city on the twenty-fourth of March, will be for the purpose of nominating a candidate to succeed Commissioner C. K. Miltmore in the city council, for a term of six years. This primary is necessary as it serves for nominating candidates for the general election on April seventh. The only candidate thus far in the field is James Senett, former street commissioner, who has announced his candidacy, and Councilman Miltmore.

At yet no papers have been filed at the city hall and the candidates have until March 4th to make official record of their entrance. The two highest men on the primary ticket will be placed on the ballot at the general election and the winning candidate will hold office for a term of six years, as C. K. Miltmore received the short term on his election when the commission form of government was established.

There will be no primary for the municipal judgeship election as all candidates will be named on the final election ballot. (The Wisconsin statute on judgeship election provides that candidates are nominated by papers circulated by persons other than the candidate himself through the county, and must contain not less than three per cent of the number of votes cast at the last election for state governor. These nomination papers must be filed with the county clerk fifteen days before the date of the election, which is April 7.

The election for municipal judge, by law, is strictly non-partisan, no candidate being allowed to designate any party or principal in securing the required names of qualified voters on his nomination papers. The election this year is for the unexpired term of C. L. Field, present county judge.

At present three men are announced candidates for this judgeship: Justice of Peace Charles H. Lange, Edwin W. Cullen, and Harry L. Maxfield, who was appointed by Governor McGovern to fill the vacancy on Judge Field's resignation.

Following an elaborate supper given at seven o'clock, the debate was held on the topic. Resolved, that the high cost of living is due mainly to high living, the affirmative side supported by W. S. Snow, W. P. Great and Chris. Lohry, winning the judges' decision. Blanchard and Winslow, E. H. Chadderton and Floyd L. Roberts upheld the negative side. The debate was held at the regular monthly meeting at the United Brethren church last evening.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

DOCTORITIS.

I MET an acquaintance on a trolley the other day looking unusually well and animated. I commented on this fact and asked her what she had been doing to herself. "I've just come from the doctor's," she said. "I'm trying a new doctor. I'm surprised that I look so well, for I'm really quite tired after the long examination he gave me."

She drew down the corners of her mouth and tried to look properly depressed, but her eyes shone and I knew why. Let me whisper a secret among women, and especially among women of the leisure class—the disease of doctoritis.

Do you know anyone who is afflicted with this dread disease? Its chief symptom, in case you do not recognize it by that name, is a terrible appetite on the part of the victim for doctors. That sounds cannibalistic, but I don't mean that she eats them, merely consults them. A patient in the advanced stage is never satisfied with one doctor, but goes from one to another as the drug dealer requires a stronger and stronger dose, so the victim of doctoritis continually requires the stimulus of a new doctor to listen to her symptoms and prescribe new potions and new courses of treatment.

Once upon a time there was a woman who began by having nervous indigestion, and ended by having doctoritis, although she didn't recognize the latter disease until too late. This woman went from doctor to doctor for several years; she had a homeopath, two allopaths, an osteopath and a mental healer. She was a nervous invalid and the life of the family soon came to center about her and her digestion. Finally she tried a great specialist and he actually cured her indigestion. She was perfectly well physically; there was no longer any occasion for her to consult doctors, and the family life ceased to revolve about her. Now what do you think happened? Six months later she up and died of doctoritis struck in. You see it had been like taking this drug on an opium patient too suddenly.

The psychology of doctoritis is easy to understand. The victims are usually people who have little to think about and who find it difficult to get their share of that precious commodity which we all crave—the lime-light. When the victim goes to a physician he asks her about herself, her family history, her previous diseases, her symptoms, etc., and she has the exquisite pleasure of being the center of attention and of talking about herself as freely as she likes, and being listened to.

The experience delights her and she repeats it as often as possible; so doctoritis gradually develops.

The woman I met on the trolley car was always perfectly well, very busy and reasonably happy until about fifty years ago when her husband inherited some money and her daughter married and went away from home, and she was left alone with little to think about. Whereupon she developed doctoritis.

A few doctors think doctoritis is a splendid institution because it fills their pocketbooks, but more of them think it is a dread and avoid the patients who have it. A doctor's secretary once told me that when a patient developed that disease her employer would have her tell the patient, whenever she called, that he was out.

And now a warning. Unsympathetic people are not to seize upon this account for all the illness in the more delicately constituted members of their family. It is far more likely that some sympathetic folks will do well to be sure that none of these is present before they make the diagnosis of doctoritis.

(3) I do not think it is right, my dear, unless you are engaged to marry him. Tell him you are a woman now and too old for such childishness.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young girl of nineteen and I keep company with a young man of twenty-one and I think an awful lot of him. He comes to see me twice a week and takes me regularly to plays and dances in his own home town and always pays a lot of attention to me while there, but when he comes to the house we can never think of much to say. I feel very embarrassed to set there and not say anything. He has as much as asked me to care for him, I do, but I am a girl that might think an awful lot of anyone and not show it. Am I wrong there? Do you think this young man cares for me?

ANXIOUS.
I certainly think this young man cares for you, my dear. I am glad you are not forward with him, but it will do no harm to let him see that you appreciate his attentions and like his company.

The Kitchen Cabinet

THE best thing to take people out of their own worries is to go to work and find out how other folks' worries are getting on.

BEWARE OF TOO MANY SWEETS.

Half the ills of life might be eliminated if our food was properly chosen, we are told, and during or just after the holidays many will suffer from so-called bilious attacks, which mean over-worked livers. Sugar eating in the various forms of candy and cakes is responsible for bad livers, sick headaches, muddy skins and the "seal brown taste" in the mouth.

In the ordinary course of digestion starches foods reach the circulation as sugar. This is carried to the liver by the portal system and stored to be used by the body. If we ever eat such foods as potatoes, bread and sweets, we overcrowd the liver.

Children can easily cultivate an appetite for sweets, but if they never get the habit much suffering for all concerned is avoided.

Sweet fruits contain sugar that is thoroughly satisfying and wholesome, and little people may be early taught to buy such things, instead of candy.

It is quite a remarkable fact that children who have been so reared that they have had little or no sweets are rarely apt, when reaching maturity, to care enough for such food to overindulge.

The errors in diet that are begun in childhood undermine the vitality, and in time the body is not able to expel the waste and ward off disease.

A child may be plump and the picture of health, and yet by a little overwork or exposure to disease the improperly-nourished body succumbs.

To be natural is to be well. All conditions of sickness are in some way penalties for the transgression of nature's laws. The most readable lesson we have is that "the sins of the fathers shall be visited upon the children," and still the evil goes on, through ignorance and carelessness.

Sweet fruits, such as dates, raisins and ripe bananas contain sugar in its most acceptable form, and appetites deprived of such wholesome sweets will turn for gratification to those which are fermentable and injurious.

A child may be as easily started right as wrong, when it comes to feeding, for the mother is the architect, and how they build will tell in later years.

Three hundred thousand babies die in our land every year, more from ignorance in regard to diet than from any other cause.

Quick Cook—One-third cup of soft butter, one and one-third cups of brown sugar, two eggs, one-half cup of milk, one and three-quarters cups of flour, three teaspoonsful of baking powder, one-half teaspoonful of cinnamon, one-half cup of raisins, one-half cup of dates, stoned and cut in pieces. Put the ingredients in a bowl and beat all together for three minutes, using a wooden cake spoon. Bake in a buttered and floured cake pan thirty-five to forty minutes. Be sure and add all the ingredients at once.

Baked Custard—Four cups of scalded milk, four to six eggs, one-half cup of sugar, one-half cup of flour, one-half cup of raisins, one-half cup of dates, stoned and cut in pieces. Put the ingredients in a bowl and beat all together for three minutes, using a wooden cake spoon. Bake in a buttered and floured cake pan thirty-five to forty minutes. Be sure and add all the ingredients at once.

Beat the eggs slightly, add the sugar and the salt, pour in slowly the scalded milk; strain in buttered mould set in pan of hot water. Sprinkle with brown sugar and bake in a slow oven until firm, which may be readily determined by running a silver knife through the custard; if the knife comes out clean, the custard is done. During the baking be sure that the water surrounding the mould does not reach the boiling-point, or the custard will whey.

Fruit Salad—Pare a pineapple and cut in one-quarter inch slices; remove the hard centers; sprinkle with powdered sugar, set aside one hour in a cool place; drain, spread on serving dish, arrange a circle of thin slices of banana on each piece, nearly to the edge, pile strawberries in the center, pour over the syrup drained from the pineapple, sprinkle with powdered sugar, and serve with or without cream sauce.

Peach Tapioca—Soak a cup of tapioca overnight; Peel and cut up ten peaches; add a cup of sugar and

Women Worth While

(By Selene Armstrong Harmon.)

A group of congressional women were having tea together one afternoon. The talk turned on the method by which a woman may best advance the political career of her husband. One woman thought carefully of the matter and said to the group: "I have a husband who is a member of Congress. He is a very successful man in politics. Most of them, however, agreed that the wife who stood by her husband's side on the hustings, and who went with him for every cross-roads in his district, had rendered him the greatest aid. From these opinions there was one dissenting voice. It was that of Mrs. Hubert Dent, wife of Representative Dent, of Montgomery, Alabama.

"I am perfectly convinced," said she, "that the way in which I can best help my husband and through him, his constituents, is by creating a home environment that shall be as pleasant as possible. Let a man go to his daily work refreshed and strengthened by his hours at home, with never a shadow of anxiety, and he will be one hundred per cent more efficient and successful."

In voicing these opinions, which she may have thought would be seen in cold type, Mrs. Dent was giving expression to a simple, even somewhat homely, theory that has become a guiding principle of her life. Her interests center in the hundred and one details of housekeeping and home management that in this day of clubs and movements and of interests outside the home, have become a frankly acknowledged bore to many women. Mrs. Dent is the sort of a housekeeper that a grandmother was. Her pantry receives from her as much solicitude as does her drawing room. The acquisition of a single good new recipe to be passed on in her already bulky recipe book, she regards as an event. Also she knows the secret of many old-fashioned Southern dishes, which have been handed down from antebellum days, and which in those times added to the renown of many a Southern housewife's hospitality.

In Montgomery, the Dents have a beautiful and interesting home. Mrs. Dent has spent some of her happiest hours in cultivating her rose gardens, which are among the finest in a city which is abloom nearly the whole year round with the sweetest flowers. Her palms are her special pets. She has some splendid specimens of palms that give the verandas of her home an almost tropical appearance.

Though her home is the center of her interests in Alabama and Washington, Mrs. Dent is fond of society also. She is one of the handsomest women in the Congressional set, and has a charm of manner that contributes no little to her popularity.

Before her marriage, Mrs. Dent was Miss Rita Tinsley, a belle of Louisville, Kentucky. She keeps in close touch with her numerous friends throughout the South, and entertains them frequently at her home at the capital.

Household Hints

THINGS WORTH KNOWING.
Add a sliced banana to the white of one egg and beat until stiff. The banana will entirely dissolve and you will have a delicious substitute for whipped cream.

To mend fine hosiery, sew a piece of fine net over the hole first, then darn in and out the little holes. This makes a smooth, neat mend and does not hurt the foot.

A nice way to serve tartar sauce is to cut a piece of ice, clean the inside and then fill the halves with the sauce, one being served to each guest.

To keep oranges and lemons hang them in a wire net in a cool (but not cold), airy place.

THE TABLE.
Scotch Wafers—One cup of fine oatmeal, one cup of rolled oats, two eggs, one-half cup of sugar, one-half cup of butter, one-half cup of milk, one-half cup of raisins, one-half cup of dates, stoned and cut in pieces. Put the ingredients in a bowl and beat all together for three minutes, using a wooden cake spoon. Bake in a buttered and floured cake pan thirty-five to forty minutes. stew until tender. Boil the tapioca in two cups of water until clear, then stir the stewed peaches into it. Remove from the fire, add the juice of a small lemon and set away to cool. Eat with whipped cream.

Municipalities, states, nations, are all striving to perfect sanitary living conditions and indeed this is a great work. Notwithstanding all the progress in this direction, there has not been any great advance toward sanitation of the mouth, which harbors so many germs. A few people are paying pretty close attention and practicing a mouth hygiene to some extent with good results for themselves. But why keep this valuable information in the hands of a few individuals. Let its value be sent broadcast so all can profit and share the benefits to be derived from mouth hygiene. Hygienics are as necessary to our welfare as eugenics are to future posterity. Good teeth and a mouth are essential to good health. Have your nostrils ever sensed the putrid breath coming from an unclean mouth? Can perfect health long exist where the entrance of air to our nostrils is in so vile a state. Is it any wonder that one's whole system is poisoned with such a place to masticate our food in.

The first thing to be accomplished when food is set before us, is to masticate or chew it to a proper state for digestion. Saliva is as essential to digestion as any of the other digestive fluids. To dump food into one's stomach only half prepared for the digestive functions is to invite poor digestion and a deranged stomach. Mastication, digestion and nutrition come in rotation and if the first is a failure, the others are necessarily impaired. With diseased teeth and diseased gums caused by our neglect to keep them clean, we surely are at a disadvantage to properly handle our nourishment.

Some years ago when scarlet fever was playing havoc in the public schools in various cities and remained epidemic in some of them, the medical profession took the precaution to have the infected children have their mouths put in as nearly as possible in a sanitary condition as possible. The immediate result of this precaution

EVERYDAY TALKS FOR EVERYDAY PEOPLE

BY FRANCES JOYCE KENNEDY.

We are told that the way to get well is not to get sick! Does that say anything to you? Are you even fairly careful of the health of the family that you have under your supervision? (We take it that the women are the readers of this sketch—it is for them.) Are you careful of your own health; or do you think you can go serenely on in a careless way without ever getting jerked up in a way that will be the exact reverse of pleasant? Who is it says that God forgives but Nature never? It pays to remember that an ounce of prevention is far better than a pound of cure.

Going back to our grouping of foods: The mineral or acid group is known as the blood-clearing group because it is really a medicine to the entire system. All fresh vegetables contain iron, and therefore have the ability to keep the blood clean, and anyone with clean blood is pretty near immune from sickness. The very best medicine in the world is Nature's own foods and generally all the poor complaints, colds, indigestion and bad breaths are caused by not enough acids or minerals in one's system.

The bulky group of foods has the power of filling the stomach, giving a feeling of satisfaction. We might eat the scientific amount required to support life and still feel hungry, so the bulky foods come to our rescue. Fresh foods and vegetables contain acids, minerals and bulk as well. The bulky foods are so coarse that they literally sweep out the digestive canal thus keeping us from self-poisoning.

The liquid group is very necessary as digestion cannot be carried on without liquids for the food to dissolve in. With the exception to tea, coffee, and all alcoholic stimulants, that cannot be classed as food at all, one cannot take too much liquid.

Make no mistake when I say you cannot take too much liquid, I mean of course, that in all things one should be moderate. Too much of anything is not good. Common sense must be used in regards to feeding as well as anything else.

Do you ever think, in meeting a person, that moderation in eating is a thing that that particular person is a stranger to? This is meant as no imputation, merely as a reminder that almost what we eat we are. Consequently it is not a bad plan for us all to know a bit more about food and its relative value to our bodies.

Getting personal, do you eat the right kind of food? Do you eat enough—or too much?

been white and sound through proper care and cleanliness. To the press should be given a large share of the credit for the work that it is doing to further the oral hygiene movement.

Horrible English Words.
One can easily add to Victor Hugo's list of horrible English words. "Gentle," for instance, is an adjective that sets the teeth on edge, and "select" (used as an adjective) is another word that only a second rate person would select. "Emergence" and "transpire" are both repulsive to use and any breakfast is always spoiled when a correspondent "thanks him in anticipation," or a tailor asks him to come and try on his "esteemed favor"—meaning trousers.

It is a difficult task to educate the public as they should be as to the value of mouth hygiene, but its value should be known far and wide. The press reaches more people in a given time than any other medium, and good credit should be given it for the work that it is doing to spread the information to all classes at once. The high and the low, the rich and the poor. To let the fathers and the mothers know that their children are ill-nourished, in spite of plenty of food. That often the malnutrition is directly due to wrecked teeth and diseased gums, which should have gotten the teeth and gums cleaned and the mouth kept in a healthy condition.

Heart and Home Problems

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I've written a song poem about the music, which I sent to Washington, D. C., to a publishing house. Now these people want $35 for publishing it. I'm publishing it myself, and I'm giving it to the music for it. As it is very hard for me to get $35 to publish it, I wouldn't like to run the risk of losing it. They tell me the song is good. I would like to have it published very much if it was safe to invest the money. Don't you think, Mrs. Thompson, that if they are running a business of that kind that they would gladly take the song and publish it, as there would be money in it for them?

It would be difficult for me to advise you in this matter. The publishers in Washington are probably willing to publish any song, good or bad, if they are paid for it. They would call any song good to get the money. Have they said anything about advertising it so it can be sold or about getting it sung at any of the popular theaters? Unless something like this is done, nobody will ever have any desire to buy it. Why not consult the heads of one or more music houses in your own city, or an orchestra leader or so and ask them for their opinion concerning the song?

Dear Mrs. Thompson: One evening at a party while playing a game I gave my ring as forfeit. The young man who collected the forfeits failed to return my ring. A year has elapsed and he still has it to my ring. He keeps promising to return it, but never does. Kindly tell me what to do.

"LORCHIN."
Tell him that you will be home on a certain evening and that you expect him to bring the ring to you at that time, and that if he does not bring it you will send somebody after him who will get it.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: What makes the eyes smart and ache in the morning, also at night? What can I do for them? "TWENTY." Perhaps you do not have enough sleep and possibly you have been straining your eyes. To relieve the condition, make a weak solution of boracic acid and bathe the eyes with this morning and night. If the eyes do not get better, see a doctor.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) Would you please give me a cure for a large neck? My hair is very dry and split at the ends. Will you please give me something that will cure this and make my hair grow?

(3) I am keeping company with a young man about four years my senior. He seems to think a great deal of me. Is it right to ask me for a good-night kiss?

BLUE EYES.
(1) I can only advise you to see a good doctor about this.

(2) Perhaps your health is not good. Poor health affects the hair, makes it lusterless and dry. Eat nourishing foods and drink as much water as you can. Brush the hair vigorously every night—120 strokes at least—with a CLEAN brush. Put a tiny bit of castor oil on the tips of your fingers and massage the scalp every day. Once a month wash the hair tight and snipe the loose ends of hair with a hot iron.

MRS. WILLIAMS' LONG SICKNESS

Yields To Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Elkhart, Ind.:—"I suffered for fourteen years from organic inflammation, female weakness, pain and irregularities. The pains in my sides were increased by walking or standing on my feet and I had such awful bearing down feelings, was depressed in spirits and became thin and pale with dull, heavy eyes. I had six doctors from whom I received only temporary relief. I decided to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial and also the Sanative Wash. I have now used the remedies for four months and cannot express my thanks for what they have done for me.

"If these lines will be of any benefit you have my permission to publish them."—Mrs. SAMIE WILLIAMS, 455 James Street, Elkhart, Indiana.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from active roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record of being the most successful remedy for female ills we know of, and thousands of voluntary testimonials on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass., seem to prove this fact.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

This Home-Made Cough Syrup Will Surprise You

Costs Little, but there is Nothing Better at Any Price. Fully Guaranteed.

Here is a home-made remedy that takes hold of a cough almost instantly, and will usually conquer an ordinary cough in 24 hours. This recipe makes a pint—enough for a whole family. You couldn't buy as much or as good ready-made cough syrup for $2.50.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with 2½ pint of warm water, and stir 2 minutes. Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle, and add the Sugar Syrup. This keeps perfectly and has a pleasant taste—children like it. Braces up the appetite and is slightly laxative, which helps end a cough.

You probably know the medical value of pine in treating bronchitis, asthma, bronchitis, spasmodic croup and whooping cough. Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in gualaccol and other natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this combination.

"You will find, Doctor Sheef, that the car my husband came up here in belongs to me. This is the card issued by the state. It is in my name. The factory number is there. You may compare it with the one on the car. My husband took the car without obtaining my consent."

"Joy riding," said Burton, with an ugly laugh. Then he quailed before the look she gave him.

"If no other means is offered, Doctor Sheef, I shall ask you to let me take the car. I am perfectly capable of driving. I have driven it in the country for two seasons. All I ask is that some one be directed to go with me to the station. No! Better than that, if there is some one here who is willing to accompany me to the city, he shall be handsomely paid for going. It is but little more than 30 miles. I refuse to spend the night in this house. That is final."

They drew apart to confer, leaving her sitting before the fire, a stark figure that seemed to detach itself entirely from its surroundings and their companionship. At last the coroner came to her side and touched her arm. "I don't know what the district attorney and the police will say to it, Mrs. Wrangell, but I shall take it upon myself to deliver the car to you. The sheriff has gone out to compare the numbers. If he finds that the car is yours, he will see to it, with Mr. Drake, that it is made ready for you. I take it that we will have no difficulty in—" He hesitated, at a loss for words.

"In finding it again in case you need it for evidence," she supplied. He nodded. "I shall make it a point, Doctor Sheef, to present the car to the state after it has served my purpose tonight. I shall not ride in it again."

"The sheriff has a man who will ride with you to the station or the city, whichever you may elect. Now, may I trouble you to make answer to certain questions I shall write out for you at once? The man is Challis Wrangell, your husband? You are positive?"

"I am positive. He is—or was—Challis Wrangell."

Half an hour later she was ready for the trip to New York city. The clock in the office marked the hour as one. A toddled individual in a great buffalo coat waited for her outside, hiccupping and bandying jest with the half-frozen men who had spent the night with him in the forlorn hope of finding the girl.

Mrs. Wrangell gave final instructions to the coroner and his deputy, who happened to be the undertaker's assistant. She had answered all the questions that had been put to her, and had signed the document with a firm, untroubled hand. Her veil had been lowered since the beginning of the examination. They did not see her face; they only heard the calm, low voice, sweet with fatigue and dread.

"I shall notify my brother-in-law as soon as I reach the city," she said. "He will attend to everything. Mr. Leslie Wrangell, I mean. My husband's only brother. He will be here in the morning, Doctor Sheef. My own apartment is not open. I have been staying in a hotel since my return from Europe two days ago. But I shall attend to the opening of the place tomorrow. You will find me there."

The coroner hesitated a moment before putting the question that had come to his mind as she spoke.

turn until—tonight," she replied, a hoarse note creeping into her voice. "He did not meet me on my return. His brother Leslie came to the dock. He—she said that Challis, who came back from Europe two weeks ahead of me, had been called to St. Louis on very important business. My husband had been living at his club, I understand. That is all I can tell you, sir."

"I see," said the coroner, gently.

He opened the door for her and she passed out. A number of men were grouped about the throbbing motor car. They fell away as she approached, silently fading into the shadows like so many vast, unwholesome ghosts. The sheriff and Drake came forward.

"This man will go with you, madam," said the sheriff, pointing to an unsteady figure beside the machine. "He is the only one who will undertake it. They're all played out, you see. He has been drinking, but only on account of the hardships he has undergone tonight. You will be quite safe with Morley."

No snow was falling, but a bleak wind blew meanly. The air was free from particles of sleet; wetly the fall of the night clung to the earth where it had fallen.

"If he will guide me to the Post-road, that is all I ask," said she hurriedly. Involuntarily she glanced upward. The curtains in an upstairs window were blowing inward and a dim light shone out upon the roof of the porch. She shuddered and then climbed up to the seat and took her place at the wheel.

A few moments later the three men standing in the middle of the road watched the car as it rushed away.

"By George, she's a wonder!" said the sheriff.

CHAPTER II.

The Passing of a Night.

The sheriff was right. Sara Wrangell was an extraordinary woman, if I may be permitted to modify his rather crude estimate of her. It is difficult to understand, much less describe a nature like hers. Fine-minded, gently bred women who can go through an ordeal such as she experienced without breaking under the strain are rare indeed. They must be wonderful. It is hard to imagine a more heart-breaking crisis in life than the one which confronted her on this dreadful night, and yet she faced it with a fortitude that seems almost unhuman.

She had loved her handsome, wayward husband. He had hurt her deeply more times than she chose to remember during the six years of their married life, but she had loved him in spite of the wounds up to the instant when she stood beside his dead body in the cold little room at Burton's inn. She went there loving him as he had lived; yet prepared, almost forewarned, to loathe him as he had died, and she left him lying there alone in that dreary room without a spark of the old affection in her soul.

Her love for him died in giving birth to the hatred that now possessed her. While he lived it was not in her power to control the unreasonable, restless thing that stands for love in woman; he was her lover, the master of her impulses. Dead, he was an unwholesome, unlovely clod, a pallid thing to be scorned, a hulk of worthless clay. His blood was cold. He could no longer warm her with it; it could no longer kill the chill that his misdeeds cast about her tender sensitiveness; his lips and eyes never more could smile and conquer. He was a dead thing. Her love was a dead thing. They lay separate and apart. The tie was broken. With love died the final spark of respect she had left for him in her tired, loath, betrayed heart. He was at last a thing to be despised, even by her. She despised him.

She sent the car down the slope and across the moonless valley with small regard for her own or her companion's safety. It swerved from side to side, skidded and leaped with terrifying suddenness, but held its way as straight as the bird that flies, driven by a steady hand and a mind that had no thought for peril. A sober man at her side would have been afraid; this man swayed mildly to and fro and chuckled with drunken glee.

Her bitter thoughts were not of the dead man back there, but of the live years that she was to bury with him; years that would never pass beyond her ken, that would never die. He had loved her in his wild, ruthless way. He had left her times without number in the years gone by, but he had always come back, gaily unchastened, to remold the love that waited with dog-like fidelity for the touch of his cunning hand. But he had taken his last flight. He would not come back again. It was all over. Once too often he had tried his reckless wings. She would not have to forgive him again. Uppermost in her mind was the curiously restful thought that his troubles were over, and with them her own. A hand less forgiving than hers had struck him dead.

Somehow, she envied the woman to whom that hand belonged. It had been her divine right to kill, and yet another took it from her.

Back there at the inn she had said to the astonished sheriff: "Poor thing, if she can escape punishment for this, let it be so. I shall not help the law to kill her simply because she took it in her own hands to pay that man what she owed him. I shall not be the one to say that he did not deserve death at her hands, whoever she may be. No, I shall offer no reward. If you catch her, I shall be sorry for her, Mr. Sheriff. Believe me, I bear her no grudge."

"But she robbed him," the sheriff had cried.

"From my point of view, Mr. Sheriff, that hasn't anything to do with the case," was her significant reply.

"Of course, I am not defending him."

"Nor am I defending her," she had retorted. "It would appear that she is able to defend herself."

Now, on the cold, trackless road, she was saying to herself that she did have a grudge against the woman who had destroyed the life that belonged to her, who had killed the thing that was hers to kill. She could not mourn for him. She could only wonder what the poor, hunted, terrified creature would do when taken and made to pay for the thing she had done.

Once, in the course of her bitter reflections, she spoke aloud in a shrill, tense voice, forgetful of the presence of the man beside her:

"Thank God they will see him now as I have seen him all these years. They will know him as they have never known him. Thank God for that!"

The man looked at her stupidly and muttered something under his breath. She heard him, and recalling her wits, asked which turn she was to take for the station. The fellow loped back in the seat, too drunk to reply.

For a moment she was dismayed, frightened. Then she resolutely reached out and shook him by the shoulder. She had brought the car to a full stop.

"Arouse yourself, man!" she cried. "Do you want to freeze to death? Where is the station?"

He straightened up with an effort, and, after vainly seeking light in the darkness, fell back again with a grunt, but managed to wave his hand toward the left. She took the chance. In five minutes she brought the car to a standstill beside the station. Through the window she saw a man with his feet cocked high, reading. He leaped to his feet in amazement as she entered the waiting-room.

"Are you the agent?" she demanded. "No, ma'am. I'm simply staying here for the sheriff. We're looking for a woman—say!" He stopped short and stared at the veiled face with wide, excited eyes. "Gee whiz! May-be you—"

"No, I am not the woman you want. Do you know anything about the train?"

"I guess I'll telephone to the sheriff before I—"

"If you will step outside you will find one of the sheriff's deputies in my automobile, helplessly intoxicated. I am Mrs. Wrangell."

"Oh," he gasped. "I heard 'em say you were coming up tonight. Well, say! What do you think of—"

"In there a train in before morning?"

"No, ma'am. Seven-forty is the first."

She waited a moment. "Then I shall have to ask you to come out and get your fellow-deputy. He is useless to me. I mean to go on in the machine. The sheriff understands."

The fellow hesitated. "I cannot take him with me, and he will freeze to death if I leave him in the road. Will you come?"

The man stared at her. "Say, is it your husband?" he asked agape.

She nodded her head.

"Well, I'll go out and have a look at the fellow you've got with you," he said, still doubtful.

She stood in the door while he crossed over to the car and peered at the face of the sleeper.

"Steve Morley," he said. "Fuller's a goat."

"Please remove him from the car," she directed.

Later on, as he stood looking down at the inert figure in the big rocking chair, and panting from his labors, he heard her say patiently:

D.D.D.

"Yes. Here it is. It's your dress-maker's bill."

A newspaper recently invited its readers to state in a few words what they considered the most beautiful thing in the world.

The first prize was awarded to the sender of the answer, "The eyes of my mother."

"The dream of that which we know to be impossible," suggested an imaginative person, and this brought him second prize.

But the most amusing thing was that which read:

"The most beautiful thing in the world is to see a man carrying his mother-in-law across a dangerous river without making any attempt to drop her in."

Delightful and Unpleasant States.

One of the most delightful states of mind to which the average man is subject is uncertainty as to the exact sentiment entertained for him by a woman whom he admires, and whom he knows to like him, but whom he is not dead set upon winning for himself.

One of the most unpleasant states is certainty that a woman deeply loves him when it is inconvenient or impossible for him to reciprocate. Yet often only a hair's breadth separates these two states—or only a few minutes in time.

ABE MARTIN

Just as soon as th' average feller gets a little prominence he digs out his middle name and brushes it up. In the good old days of chivalry an Hoyt's German Cologne ever feller gave his girl a coxy of "Lucille."

AND HE DID

Great Many Are Like This. "You must quit worry and take a vacation," said the suave practitioner. "My dear doctor," replied the irritable patient, "if I could get my affairs into a shape that would permit me to take a vacation, I'd be so relieved that I wouldn't need one."

HEALTH HINTS
Sodium Phosphate is a liver stimulant. It increases the flow of bile which is necessary to the proper digestion of food. Bile also stimulates bowel action. A good many forms of indigestion and constipation are promptly relieved by a few doses of Effervescent Sodium Phosphate taken before breakfast each morning. Jaundice or yellow skin, headaches, dizziness, sour stomach, and other complaints can be traced to the liver. Stimulate the liver and the trouble is gone. Sodium Phosphate that has always been sold at 50c a bottle for a few days we will sell at 25c a bottle. Get it today. Give it a trial. You will be much pleased.

Mr. Piening, our graduate pharmacist and chemist, can give you any other information you wish about this or any other remedy. Badger Drug Co., Milwaukee and River Sts., the drug store that makes a specialty of drugs.

FORTY YEARS AGO

The Janesville Daily Gazette, February 12, 1874. Regular meeting of the common council was held and all aldermen were present except Martin.

Annual report of the Board of Education was heard and ordered placed on file and published. City treasurer's report was given and turned over to the finance committee. John Watson was given permission to rebuild a barn which was burned a short time ago. James Marks was appointed a special policeman.

During the session the mayor received a telegram from Chicago which contained the following advice: "Don't marry Lewis Davis and Mary Barnes. Mrs. Phillice Davis. Our worthy mayor is not in the marrying business, but he ventures to suggest that ministers and justices be cautious in uniting this distinguished pair."

Sam Sharpley's troupe of burnt cork artists will entertain Janesville people at the opera house on the 24th inst. The latest information from the pinch farm is that he had leased it to Benoit parties who will now go for coal.

A train coming north between Beloit and this city struck a broken rail which threw fifteen cars off the track. Nobody was hurt but the road is badly obstructed and will remain thus for the remainder of the night. Passengers and baggage have to be transferred a mile.
